Born in Utica on October 25, 1952, Geraldine was the beloved daughter of the late Richard C. and Mildred (Walker) Bougourd. After graduating from T.R. Proctor High School, she was employed with Price Chopper. Later, she proudly earned her New York State Cosmetology License. With her talent and care, Geraldine spent many happy years working at Acacia Village, where she deeply cherished the friendships she formed with her patrons.

At one time, Geraldine was married to Rocco D. Carzo, Sr., a union that brought the blessings of a daughter and a son. She later shared a longtime, loving, and respectful relationship with the late Marvin Carey.

Geraldine was fiercely loving, and those she held close were endeared to her heart. She led a well-lived life and believed deeply in her legacy—one that is now lovingly carried on by her family.

Geraldine is survived by her daughter, Lisa Ann Carzo; and her son, Rocco D. Carzo, Jr. As one of six children, she was especially close to her sister, Donna Almas, who preceded her in death on October 20, 2024. She also leaves cherished memories with her nieces and nephews, especially Shelly Lamoree, who shared a close bond with her and lovingly cared for Aunt Ger throughout her illness. Together, they created countless memorable moments; great-nieces, great-nephews; and cousins. Geraldine also maintained daily check-in calls with her childhood friend, Eleanor, reflecting the enduring bond that brought much joy to her life.

Geraldine's life was remembered by her family in a private setting. By family request please omit floral offerings.
