“ My heart is heavy. Psalms 30 verse 5 tells me that "joy will come in the morning." I have chosen to celebrate my fathers life versus mourning his death. So my joy will come in the morning. I thought my father was invincible. He was so strong. His temperament consistent. His love for his family strong. He would give anyone the shirt off his back. My father taught me how to be a man, a father, a friend, a brother, a teammate, a co-worker, a caring human being. The younger generation talks about "swagger". My father had a "quiet swagger". Did what he needed to do behind the scenes and without "fan fare". We can all learn from him. My father always has been and always will be my hero.

“ Statement read at my Dad's Wake on Monday June 4, 2012

Son, Brother, Friend, Husband, Father, Uncle, Grandfather, Great Grandfather, Co- Worker, Teammate, Classmate, Neighbor and DAD to all.

Our minds eye is the most captivating gift we all possess, superior to any modern day computer that man has invented. It allows all of us who encountered Dad, to recall precious moments. As I close my eyes, I can hear my fathers low tone of voice. I can see and feel his mild temperament. So yes, we will not be able to se Dad again in this system of things, but it is our minds eye that will enable my mother Annabelle Dorsey , to continue to visualize all of her 62 years of marriage. Some of my Dad's trademark sayings, " Your trying to do too much"!, "Don't get involved" , "Mind your business", "Is that right"? "You see that stuff out there"? (referring to the snow outside). "Watch out for those Cowboys" (referring to bad drivers on the roads). Good bye for now Dad.

*I love you,
Jody Dorsey*

“ My Dearest Dad- Your words were muddled and cloudy like a ship sailing through troubled waters, as you spoke to me as a youth. Your words then became so clear and evident, as I matured, "fully" understanding the Man everyone called DAD !. One of your favorite quotes and mine as well was " If I'm crazy, what's the rest of the World", classic Dad. I miss your spirit so so much. Thank you Dad for your guidance and your unconditional Love. Thank you for sharing your memories with me, thank you for sharing your Sister Aunt Bernice and Family with me. Thank you, for your consistency. I love you Dad. Who will call me Jo Jo now? So long for now, "Be Careful Out There."

“ Mr. Dorsey – as we that grew up with Jody & Jai knew him – was a class act through and through. From his easy-going manner to the quiet strength that permeated every word that he spoke, Mr. Dorsey was the epitome of a man.

You will be missed Sir. Blessings be unto you.

BEING AROUND MA AND DAD THEY MADE EVERYTHING OK NOTHING ELSE MATTERED AS LONG AS I WAS AROUND THEM THEY HAD THERE BEER AND POPCORN AND I HAD MY CAKE. ONE THING I REMEMBER AND WILL NEVER FORGET WAS WHEN DAD LEFT ME AT THE TABLE "ALL DAY, ALL DAY" OVER SOME PEAS I WAS MAD, ANGRY BUT THE NEXT DAY HE WAS BACK TO BEING MY DAD. I'LL MISS U SO. “ When I think of "Dad," I think of PANCAKES - big, gigantic pancakes. My first dinner with the family, Dad made pancakes. I had NEVER seen a pancake that big in my life. Trying to impress the family, and using my manners, I thought, how am I going to clean my plate; how am I going to eat all of my food as I was told to do. I started in on the pancake and barely got to half when Dad said, "Darlin' you don't have to eat the whole thing." Woooooeee, what a relief! He saved me!!! I thank Dad for loving my BIDDY and me for over 32 years.....Blessings to The Dorsey Family (my family....).
With LOVE, Monique ("Mona") Robertson Heyward.

“ Jay, though time and distance separated us far too long, you and your family have always remained in our thoughts. There's an African Proverb that states "as long as one is remembered, one never dies." In our house you and the family will live forever.
