“ My Maddy I can't believe it's been so long here on this earth without you. I'll never get to see your first steps, never hear you say Mommy. There is so many things I'll never get to see you do, but I do know you are the strongest little girl I've even meet. You fought so hard so long, until Mommy told you that if you were tired of fighting than let go. I couldn't see you in so much pain any longer. I'll never understand why I couldn't take your place or why your gone. I'm so sorry it took Mommy so long to get your stone put in I didn't want to accept you wew gone and I still done. Happy birthday tomorrow My Maddy. I hope you love your stone. My ladybug I miss you every single day and I love you so much it hurts. Take care of her Des until I can be with you both one day 🥀🥀🥀🥀

“ To Eric & Nicole... There are no words to express the sadness in my heart for you, your families, and the beautiful daughter you have lost so suddenly. There are no words to make it better, to fill the emptiness, or to give you understanding. I couldn't begin to know what the two of you are feeling. Yet, through the worst of all of this, my hope is that you can find peace and comfort among the many prayers of love and support being given by so many. I know mine and those of my family are and will be for some time to come. You have our very deepest sympathies and should you ever need anything at all, we will always be here. Just remember... there are holes in the floor of heaven. To Madyson... May God's Grace let you soar free throughout the heavens until you meet your family again. Bless you baby girl. Shine your love down upon us all.##imported-begin##Kristen Wilson & Family##imported-end##

Right now I know that your Great-grandma has you in her arms along with your sister Marlana, one of you in each arm, and she will watch over you until you can be with your Mommy & Daddy again.
