“ I met Bobby when I first moved to NH and was having difficulty fitting in because I wore a brace and was teased for being different. It didn't matter to him. He was kind and accepting. He made that time a bit more tolerable. Your son was a wonderful child who I am sure grew up to be an outstanding man. I think my life would have been easier if everyone were a bit more like Bobby. Please accept my deepest condolences during this awful time.

“ My most sincere sorrow to Angelo and family on the loss of your son. After I came on to this tribute wall here and saw an updated photo ,,,,I recognized him !!! Yes, he was such a nice person and kind soul. Always polite and respectful to others ! He had good morals and strong values. My friend also new him and shared conversations with him !! I What a nice guy ,,,,he said. My heart broke when I spoke on the phone with you today when you called the Post Office in Utica . It clicked. I am sorry I didn't know about this. I am sorry for your loss, your pain, and your sadness. I wish I could give you a big hug. You are such a nice person .....I hope that the sympathy from others can somehow be a source of strength for you , and that your faith in God will help to endure your sorrow. “ It was obvious to me that Bob really loved his daughter, Sophia. He was pleased and proud to have his birthday party and knew he was loved. Very charming, pleasant and obviously intelligent he often spoke of how he valued spending time with his daughter. At this party, he told us of the joy of being there at her birth in Italy, the music being played and what a wonderful experience they had living in Italy. I'm glad Sophia had the chance to be at that party and to see her grandparents sing Happy Birthday to Bob.

These are the memories we learn to cherish and know they are indelible. Love never dies.

“ Over the years, there have been many life lessons that I’ve learned from Bob, for which I will be forever grateful... From a young age, Bob instilled in me the importance of looking at the good in everybody. This was the foundation for how he lived his life. Bob found great pleasure and personal satisfaction in making a difference in every person’s life he touched and he would often go out of his way to do so, especially for the “underdog” or anyone who was in need, and he did this with the utmost sincerity. He never wavered on his belief that you should never judge a book by its cover and always took the time to get to know everyone who crossed his path and understand every situation. He encouraged me and others to always realize that people do the best they can with the tools they are given...

Bob was brilliant, generous, witty, hilarious, audacious, supportive, and kind hearted, to name a few... He had so much to be proud of, especially his ability to succeed beyond measures – even in the face of adversity. He lived a life like no other... He was very charitable and would spend his bonus money on feeding and clothing the homeless, and during this time he developed relationships with them and went out of his way to seek them out and offer assistance whenever he could.

I am sadden that his life was so short and pray he knew how proud we are for all the good he brought into our lives. I am blessed that his memory will live on through our daughter Sofia.

*Now here is a characteristic of Bob's that definitely rubbed off on me... my irritation with the spelling errors I noticed after a reread. * Beyond measure *saddened*
