“ I am so grateful that our paths crossed one last time and am honored to have worked with Sue through her final days. For a woman of such small stature, one would never expect the strength she had. She was strong and fought hard and she did it with her usual grace, dignity, and style that she was bound and determined to maintain. She was blessed to have her loyal family by her side, especially her sisters who cared for her in ways only a sister can do.

My sincere condolences to the entire family. May fond memories soon fill the great void you are feeling.

Susie, please give 'Gwendolyn and Hank' a hug and kiss and a wink and a smile for me. I am content to know that you are at peace. Until we meet again...

“ I am trying to be strong with all of this but the truth is my heart is broken, I am sorry I run from things when they are happening so I don't have to face what is really going on. I love you Aunt sue, you are more then just my Aunt you are my godmother and someone who could always relate to me and that i could talk to about anything. You fought this fight for 5 years and not many people could have ever done that, and you did it with the mind set that you would fight this and beat it, my mom said you are one of the strongest people ever. I know everyone is heart broken but this is your time to rest. I know you are with Pop and Nana now and you are happy and healthy again watching over all of us, I love you Aunt Sue, we all Love you and we will all miss you. I love you,
Love Always,
Missy
